

How to solve the problem:

The solution of the large plant show the capabilities of SFC to handle parallel processes. Each belt and the elevator are controlled independtly within the same diagram. With a single state machine a solution of that problem is very demanding.